GRISP'S GAIETY. JOHN DREW made his second appearance last night, to a crowded house, and the entire performance was entire siastically received by a highly fashionable and discriminating audience. His 'Irish Emigrant' was a gem -a perfect and beautiful rendition-the admirable impersonation of which should alone be sufficient to place bim at the head of his profession. His blending of pathos with the ludicrous, in this character, stomps Mr. Daxw the finished artist. As "O' Callabau" in the very amusing comedy of "His Last Legs," he was certainly very funny and kept the audience in the best possible humor. To night he appears as Cupt. Murphy Maguire, in the brilliant three act comedy of "The Serious Family," a part he performed in Philadelphia over three hundred times. The performance concludes with the very laughable petite comedy of "More Blunders than One," with John Drew as Larry Hooligan. To-morrow night, we understand, he will appear, by particular request, as William in the nautical drama of "Black Eved Susan," a character in which he has no equal on the American stage. This will be a great treat to all the lovers of legitimate acting.

Wood Benson.—This gentleman left Nashville yesterday evening for Memphis, where he will spend the dramatic season. He was the leading comedian of the Gaiety here last season, in which capacity he acquitted himself with great credit. During the summer vacation he was employed in superintending the publication of, and as a writer for, "Young's Spirit of the South." Later, he gave Mr. Crisp material aid in organizing companies for his theatres in this city and Memphis for the present season. He will take his place on the boards of the Memphis Gaiety, at the opening of that institution, and we commend him to the favor of the Memphis public. He will never disappoint

POPULATION OF ARKANSAS .- The Little Rock True Democrat p ablishes a statement from the State Census 11 sourns of 1858, from which it appears that the total population of Arkansas is 318,313, as follows:

White males 136,943
White females 120,640 The returns are not complete, and it is generally concluded that a fell enumeration would reach far higher ligures.

THE BERGE AT COVINGTON .- The work OR the Covington tower of the Ohio suspension bridge, is progressing satisfactorily. It has been carried up to a height of about sixty feet above low water mark. Two or three more courses of stone will be laid, which will place the top above high water mark, after which work will be resumed on the Cincinnati tower, and prosecuted until cold weather sets in.

NEW OBECASS .- The Picayone, reviewing he material progress of New Orleans, says that it has escaped entirely the late commercial revelsion, and its commerce shows an incase, while in every other commercial city there has been a decrease. In all the leading stables there has been an excess of receipts over last year. The population of the city is giveo at 225,000. In 1840, it was 102,143.
